Proposed Method

- Use a robot motion planner to generate a realistic motion based on certain desired constraints for a quadruped robot (dog)/ humanoid robot.
- Map the joints of the robot to handles of the desired mesh.
- Use the robot tree as skeleton constraints in the desired mesh.
- Use Bounded Biharmonic Weights algorithm and Linear Blend Skinning to impose the mesh on the robot tree to create realistic animations.